

FamilyLife Blended® Radio Transcript

References to conferences, resources, or other special promotions may be obsolete.

Stepfamilies and Adoption

Air date: November 4, 2020

Ron: Hey Ron, are stepfamilies and adoptive families similar?

Announcer: For FamilyLife Blended®, here's Ron Deal.

Ron: Yeah, in some ways they are. For example, adoptive parents and stepparents alike have to bond with kids by developing trust, learning how to read each other, and sharing life together. And they—and the children—learn that the pain of the past really can't be avoided. You can hope that the past will not affect the bonding process in the family but both families understand that avoiding pain and pretending it doesn't matter, doesn't really get you anywhere, but moving through pain together does.

Considering the past and building a relationship in the present that's how you forge a family. One loving, stubborn step at a time. For FamilyLife Blended I'm Ron Deal.

Announcer: To find out more visit familylifeblended.com.

FamilyLife Blended with Ron Deal is a production of FamilyLife. Help for today. Hope for tomorrow.

We are so happy to provide these transcripts to you. However, there is a cost to produce them for our website. If you've benefited from the broadcast transcripts, would you consider donating today to help defray the costs?

Visit <http://www.familylifeblended.com/donate>.

Copyright © 2020 FamilyLife. All rights reserved.

www.FamilyLife.com